

your community's agency of choice

At Highstreet Insurance & Financial Services, we believe in helping people and businesses see possible by protecting them, helping them grow and illuminating their path ahead.

Founded in 2018, Highstreet is a rapidly growing, national insurance and financial services company built on an understanding of community and relationship: combining the strength of local relationships with the power of national resources. Today, we partner with over 350+ agencies across the country, bringing together deep expertise, broad market access, and a shared commitment to the communities we serve.

Our approach is established in partnership—both with our clients and with the agencies that join Highstreet. We invest in great local agencies, empowering them to keep what makes them special while enhancing their capabilities with:

- Expanded carrier access and solutions
- Data, analytics, and operational support
- Strong culture and brand
- Shared knowledge across a national network of strong relationships

The result is a better experience for clients: more options, deeper insight, and advice that's grounded in both local understanding and national perspective.

We're building stronger futures by protecting the people & resilient communities behind them.
